Cultural Capital

What is cultural capital?

"The essential knowledge that pupils need to be educated citizens, introducing them to the best that has been thought and said and helping them to engender an appreciation of human creativity and achievement." OFSTED Handbook 2019.

Cultural Capital is an accumulation of knowledge, experiences, behaviours and skills that a child can draw upon to be successful within society, careers and in their future lives. This also includes a child's ability to demonstrate their awareness of other cultures and understanding of people different to themselves.

Cultural Capital helps children achieve goals, become successful and overcome any disadvantages that they might face. Providing children with new experiences and knowledge that close the gap between them and their peers support their want and drive to aspire and achieve social mobility whatever their starting point.

At Manor Junior School we tailor our curriculum to our children and our locality, both in and outside of the classroom; ensuring that our provision is inspiring and reflects the needs and experiences of our learners and provides them with the knowledge and cultural capital to succeed in an ever changing world ensuring they can be the best they can be. Many of these are in addition to what we offer through the curriculum.
